

Here We Go Again

Yes, just five days after being on a Navajo Reservation helping with a vacation Bible school, we are on an airplane to our next mission trip - Fiji.

The Navajo VBS was good. Ginger and I did the puppets, of which there were three scripts each day. Ginger had repurposed a puppet that had been given to us into a firefly puppet for the scripts. But the highlights of the trip was I had the opportunity to share the gospel with a teenager and pray with her to make Jesus her Lord. Ginger shared the gospel with a young boy that had been riding his bike around our trailer and he prayed to receive Jesus. Always be ready to share the gospel.

We knew it would be a quick turn around and we had prepared for it. We came home from the Navajo VBS, wiped the ever present sand off of everything, did some laundry, repacked and we were on an airplane for our second 20+ hour journey this year. The welcome from the Fijians at the airport was great - even if it was 5am their time. Off to the hotel where breakfast was still being served and then to the room for some rest before opening rally Saturday evening.

Tomorrow (Sunday) we will worship with our church and start laying out plans for the week. Pray that we will have strength and energy.
